Introduction...and a bit about me

I don't just enjoy shooting weddings, I love it. Being a part of a couples special day and capturing all the special moments for prosperity means a lot to me.

My aim as the photographer both before, during and after your celebrations is to....

- Help you plan your wedding day to get the best possible photographs we can with the least fuss possible...
- Help you throughout your wedding day to make it the most special day of your life....
- provide you with stunning, high quality photos after the celebration has passed.

My style of shooting...

I like to be unobtrusive and blend in. I love to capture the intimate and special moments, the smiles and laughter from the day. I don't like to boss guests around and I'm more than happy for others to get their photos once I've got mine.

Where to go from here...

The next step is for us to get together and discuss your wedding...Your ideas, dreams and hopes and how I can help to capture them all in your wedding day photographs.

Our meeting is without obligation or need to book there and then, its a chance for us to meet, chat and look through some samples. Its only when you decide that Dan Monaghan Photography is the right wedding photographer for you do we discuss booking and cost.

Once we move to the booking stage there will be a booking fee of £150 required to secure our services on your wedding day.

After this you're welcome to contact me with any questions or concerns you have. Unless you've booked an engagement shoot we'll then meet up pre wedding to go over some shot lists and finalise one or two things, possibly at your wedding venue. After that its the big day where we capture 100's of beautiful photos of your celebrations...Photos you can keep forever!
