

ICKOOTU

photography

6 Frog Lane
Plungar
Nottingham
NG13 0JE
01949 869 489
info@ickootu.co.uk
www.ickootu.co.uk

About us

The photographers at ICKOOTU are Caroline Addison and Eleri Tunstall. Caroline has been photographing weddings for seven years and was joined full time by Eleri four years ago.

We work as a team, travelling all over the country to weddings small and large, formal and informal, civil ceremonies and traditional church services.

We specialise in the reportage style.

About reportage

Reportage photography is for those people who prefer relaxed, natural 'real' pictures rather than posed shots.

Our aim at your wedding is to be as invisible and unobtrusive as possible. You won't even know that most shots are being taken. That's when we can catch you and your guests at your most relaxed and those are the moments you will always remember.

While we're happy to take whatever formal group shots you would like to compliment the reportage coverage, we still try to keep the process fun and do our best not to boss you around!

So, if the reportage style sounds right for you and if you'd like us to be part of your day, we'll look forward to hearing from you!

Caroline and Eleri x x x

Happy customers

You were both absolutely brilliant on our wedding day, you were so unobtrusive and what we really appreciated was that we didn't have to 'wait round' for photos to be taken. All our photos were taken as the day panned out which meant they really are such a true reflection of the day and you got some really natural shots of us and all the guests. You really helped make our day so special.

Polly and John

Our wedding album is fantastic and really picks up the highlights of the day, including so many bits we didn't get to see. Nothing was too much trouble and it was certainly one of the wisest things we spent our wedding budget on.

Lis and Ben

We want to thank you so much for our beautiful wedding album. We knew that it would be full of wonderful memories and that your work would portray the story of our day, but your thoughtfulness - including such things as my father's, Marks and Emily's cards, together with the image of my father really surpassed everything we expected. It is such a joy to turn every page and relive each image, feeling all the emotion of the day.

Thank you for that gift.

Rachel and Mark

Contents

The following pages will take you through an imaginary wedding day, using images taken at various weddings over the past two years, to give you an idea of the storybook coverage that the reportage style gives.

- 1a. The build up: the girls
- 1b. The build up: the boys
2. The ceremony
3. We did it!
4. Confetti time
5. Formal groups
6. The couple
7. Small people
8. Shiny, happy people
9. Arty stuff
10. Speeches
11. First dance
12. Informal groups
13. Really dancin'

1a. The build-up: the girls

As there are two of us - one of us can be with each of you while you get ready to meet in the ceremony.

Being female, we can blend in with the bride's preparations better than most...

1b. The build-up: the boys

But we're equally happy to join the boys on the golf course or at the pub!

2. The ceremony

The benefit of two photographers is never more evident than in the ceremony.

3. We did it!

Just after the ceremony is time to hug everyone and each other and can produce some lovely shots.

4. Confetti time

There's no such thing as too much confetti.

5. Formal groups

Although we specialise in the reportage, 'as the moment happens' style, we are still happy to take any group shots that you'd like. Ask your venue in advance where the best place is for an entire wedding group shot.

1

6. The couple

It is entirely up to you how many 'posed' shots you would like, if any.

We will be getting reportage shots of you together throughout the day (image 1 opposite, for example, was not a set-up shot).

However, if you like, we can also compliment these with some more 'formal' portraits. We shouldn't need more than 15 minutes for this and we promise we'll still make it fun!

7. Small people

If you're inviting children to the wedding, be warned - they tend to steal the show!

8. Shiny, happy people

While you are quite rightly the centre of attention, you have also invested a great deal of time, effort and money in making sure that your friends and family have a great time. So we make sure we get lots of shots of them enjoying the day as well as you!

9. Arty stuff

The details of your wedding that you spend so much time and effort getting right are a huge part of the day as a whole. The reportage style allows you to document this.

10. Speeches

Always a great time for pictures; laughter, tears and 'slide under the table' embarrassment!

11. First dance

Whether you've planned a fabulous coreographed routine or a good old fashioned slow dance, it can be one of the first times all day that bride and groom get a moment together!

12. Informal groups

Don't worry if there isn't time to organise a photo of every possible group in the time allowed for your formal photos. Just grab us later on and we can do more relaxed group shots then. You'll probably find your guests will take care of this for you anyway!

13. Really dancin'

When we say we stay all day - we do mean it. We wouldn't dream of leaving before we've got evidence of your guests throwing some shapes on the dancefloor!