Albums are best planned before your wedding day. They will become a treasured keep sake for you and your family in the years to come. For this reason, I suggest we get together over coffee and look at some samples and styles to find the right album for you.

Congratulations on setting your Wedding Date!

Through the amazingly long list of things to do, you've started looking for your wedding photographer.

Thank you for considering The Garage Studio - you've come to the right place! From your very first email, to the day of completion, I will personally spend over 35hrs with you, and your special images to create something truly unique.

It is important to me that we get to know each other in advance, and for this reason EVERY wedding package includes a FREE Beloved Mini Shoot. This gives us an opportunity to work together BEFORE your Wedding day to ensure we communicate well and understand what we both hope to achieve on that 'magical day'

When you're ready to arrange a quote or to book a meeting time, Please give me a call or send through an email. At this meeting we can go over the details of your Beloved Mini Shoot, Wedding Day, and your preference of packages, prints and albums.

I look forward to being there and capturing your special day.
