Before your wedding day

Before the day we hold a consultation with you to build up an action plan for the day. This is to sort out timings, details of the bridal party, group photos you want and to see what ideas you may want to include for yourself. We fill out a small questionnaire with these and any other details. Once the agreement for the type of package you have selected is reached you will receive 2 copies of a wedding contract. If happy with the content we ask that you sign one copy and return it to myself.

On the wedding day

What I always explain to brides and grooms is to remember that this is a wedding day and not a photo shoot. We do not want to be too intrusive on the day because you have many other people to consider who have come just to celebrate with you. So the purpose of our pre-wedding consultation is to find the little pockets of time where we can take the photos that you want.

I always say that if you give me the time I will give you the beautiful photos you want so we respectfully ask you to give us as much time as you can.

Uncle Bob

This is the name given in the trade to the family relative who has the "big camera". Almost every wedding has one and uncle Bob normally stands looking over my shoulder taking the same photos as myself after I have set up the groups.

I have no problem with this apart from when we just have the bride and groom. Then I respectfully insist that myself and my assistant have exclusive access to the bride and groom. Uncle bob can be a distraction in this situation and eyes start to wander between him and myself thus using the valuable time we have to capture the moments.

Photo-booths are becoming more and more popular at weddings and for every couple who chooses Emotional Moments for their wedding photography, if they add a photo-booth to their package we give the bride and groom a free gift that is not included in any other of our photo booth packages.

When your guests enter the booth the photos are taken and two copies of the photo are printed.

One photo is retained by the guests. The second copy is affixed into an album where the guests are invited to write a message to the bride and groom. At the end of the evening the album is presented to the bride and groom so that they have an immediate photographic memory of their special day.
